LEGENDA

Dear Mother and Dad -

WE have just completed the best four years of our lives. Perhaps you felt your part was only financial and that when we became college women, we became independent women. But we remember it was you who applauded when we decided to come to Wellesley, who listened patiently when we were discouraged, and who smiled at our triumphs and said, "We knew it all the time."

Yours was the part that pulled us through.

For this and everything— Thanks!

THE CLASS OF FORTY-EIGHT

College Road . . .

We came to college looking for something ready-made--if not a pattern to follow, at least a broad highway to travel. As freshmen we found that there were many roads we could take. As sophomores we discovered that some of these were dead-ends. But as juniors we realized that others were detours. Now as seniors we are at last keeping up a steady speed in the right direction. We have explored the territory well and we have left a great deal behind us. But in the end, we have found that Wellesley is as much a part of us as we are a part of her. It has left us with a wonderful feeling and a wealth of enthusiasm as a new life begins.

THE LIFE OF LEARNING

HOLY BIBLE
BILDERLESEBUCH

Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton

We will never forget that first morning chapel, when Mrs. Horton pointed out our opportunities and urged us to set our standards high. In leading an active and purposeful life, in the WAVES, abroad with educational committees, all over America with the 75th, and in the home, she has shown us that her words were more than the usual "welcoming address;" they were far from empty. She has symbolized the spirit of Wellesley—hard work, and deep thought, but with the friendliness and humor that makes our "women's world" worth while.

Learning

Education at Wellesley is not all theory, for we know that the knowledge gleaned from professors, text-books and notes must be supplemented by practical application. "Learning by doing" is important, for we believe that experience is one of the best teachers.

Trips to see our theories take on reality remove the school-room quality from our courses, for our eyes are opened to fact in action. We try out our educational theories by teaching. We toil in the workshop atmosphere of our creative courses. We prove the truth of fact for ourselves in lab. We do interviewing and testing, work with community organizations. In our Junior Year we can go abroad, to use the languages we have acquired, and to learn by living in a foreign country. Besides having experience connected with our courses, we have our extra-curricular activities. We are all amateurs, but we have the opportunity, not only to work, but to show critical audiences the products of our work. Wellesley furnishes us with a wide general background, but it also gives us the chance of doing what we learn, so that we may take the first steps toward our work, our lives to come.

NEWS

The Wellesley News covers our college activities, and brings the world to Wellesley. The front-page stories tell everyone who's what and what's where; the editorial sections express the News board's opinions on subjects of college interest and "To the Editors" gives every student a chance to air her own ideas. News of the arts is discussed by the Campus Critic.

This year, News has been busy publicizing the 75th Anniversary campaign through interviews with important Fund workers. It has also mirrored or heightened interest in national and international affairs, brought about by the experiences gained in summers abroad and at work, and in our relationships to the problems of students in foreign countries.

COLLEGE GOVERNMENT

Nancy Bartram
President of College Government

The Wellesley College Government Association is the organization of all citizens of the Wellesley community for the coordination and regulation of their corporate life. Necessary regulations proceed from the Senate; cases of students who violate the Grey Book are brought before Superior Court; The House Presidents Council sees that College Government is effective in daily living; and the Cabinet coordinates college organizations and the community at large. New and better legislation, which has made C.G. more efficient and more workable this year, is: the revision of monetary regulation with a new all-college treasurer, N.S.A., "individual case" judicial function of the house-councils, and revision of constitutions. C.G. is to make us all feel our responsibility, to enlist our cooperation, to make our college and its government a "going concern."

Signs such as "I want to be a lawn" made most of us tread the straight and narrow paths. When we did gambol on the green, shrill whistles from "Hanner's Grass Cops" reminded us: "Yo' feet's too big!"

CHOIR

We sang for morning and Sunday chapel. Long rehearsals and lots of work were well worth while because we were able to make real music together. SERVICE FUND

We gave to charitable organizations the amounts we pledged. It took a lot of work to follow up the last few forgetful pledgers, but persistence is our pass-word. The realization that we have done a real service to many, many deserving people, all over the world, makes it worth while.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

In recognizing the need to discuss our religious beliefs among ourselves and with faculty, the Christian Association has sponsored Studies in Living, treating the religious role of the educated woman in the world today. Worship Committee discussions on "What is Christianity?", an active Interfaith study program, and "bull sessions" within the Freshman and Upperclass Councils.

C.A.'s scope is large, including Ask-Me's and the vaudeville during Freshman Week, handbooks, campus suppers, "big sisters," Christmas Bazaar. There were Candlelight Vespers; the Student Volunteer Movement; studying Christian vocations; a committee which sent packages overseas; and a Social Service Committee. It was a year of interesting work and, we think, well spent.

THE MIGHTY SEVENTY-FIFTH

The present students of Wellesley are 100% behind the drive for $7,500,000 to be raised by Wellesley's Seventy-fifth Anniversary Year, 1950. The student contribution of $75,000 will go toward scholarships, salaries, and a living room for the new dormitory. The student committee has made us realize that we are the college's most important publicity agents and has inspired us to work and to give so that the aims of the Fund may be realized.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

We played—everything from archery, badminton, and crew to squash, soft ball, and tennis. In the fall you saw us on the hockey field or canoeing on the Lake. In the winter we mastered the intricacies of fencing and in the spring we took up golf. We had our Field Day, too, where we received the W's that our energy had earned us.

OUTING CLUB

We went—on bicycle trips to find the Roman Ruins, sailing at Marblehead, hiking up mountains with a bedroll, an extra pair of socks, and a box of marshmallows. At home we clamored to go square dancing, and rivalled the best of New England in light steps and long wind. Our Winter Carnivals were headline events, skating, skiing, and a big dance!

FLYING CLUB

As members of the Association of New England College Flying Clubs, we flew with some of the seventeen member colleges, on breakfast flights and to the big yearly meet in May. We spoke enthusiastically to everyone, trying to make them more modern, more air-minded. From Norwood Airport we flew and saw New England with perspective—from the air.

SWIMMING CLUB

We swam to music and made Aquacade patterns in the water to the tune of waltzes, tangos, and marches. As freshmen, we were apprentices and learned the rudiments of rhythmic swimming. Then we graduated to fancy diving and water acrobatics. We invited men's colleges to swimming parties, and every spring we gave a Swim Parade to exhibit our skill.

"I must go down to the seas again" or to the mountains or anywhere that is out-of-doors, away. On bikes we have covered most of Massachusetts. By taking along our lunches we could get further for less money and with more fun. On skis we have fallen on most of the mountains in New England, defying the warnings of the man who suggested we take an open slope first. We have seen the ocean in all of its moods from the shore or from a boat. Our choices, of where and how, were numerous, and always demanded a repeat performance.

EXTRA CURRICULAR EATING

Nourishment for the body must accompany nourishment for the mind, and so eating is a favorite pastime at Wellesley. On campus, the Well provides a gay and colorful atmosphere (murals, music, and a variety of costumes) where students may gather for a sociable cup of coffee, delicious concoctions of ice creams and sauces, or full-sized meals.

For those who wish just a quick snack between classes, the El Table, in the basement of Founders, offers numerous candies and cookies, and is fast developing into a breakfast nook because of its new items of orange juice, doughnuts, milk and coffee. The village stores and tempting bakery windows are not passed by the Wellesleyite, for a room full of food means a room filled with people. If the menu at dinner does not please, there are several places in the Vil where the most varied tastes are satisfied. And for those Juniors and Seniors who wish to display their culinary arts, the society houses provide the charm of home. Truly, we live to eat!

During the fall, there may have been a football game in the afternoon. Whether the tickets were on or far from the fifty-yard line, there wasn't a thrill missed. Followed the cocktail hour, a big dinner at one of the unusual, though fattening, eateries of Boston. Then off to a society house, the theater, a house dance, or "dancing, Boston." The sign-out sheet might just as well have read: "Rec. Building, Campus," because no matter where you go, there is always a wonderful time in store on Saturday night.

FRESHMAN WEEK

Freshman Week is perhaps the most athletic period in our whole college career. For those few days, we rush back and forth over the campus, trying frantically to make all the various meetings and appointments. There is no time to think about our aching feet and legs. By the time college begins, we have learned what it is to be grateful—to "Ask-Me's"—and we are at least confident that if we can figure out where we are supposed to be, we can get there on time.

See yourself as others see you

CANDLELIGHT VESPERS

Candlelight Vespers is one of the most heart-warming traditions at Wellesley. The hymns sung by a voluntary choir and the lighting of all our candles from one single light impart a rare spirit of fellowship and love. The sense of belonging seems to become stronger in the candle glow. After the service, we carry our candles carefully away, for if the flame lasts until we get home, our special candlelight wish will come true.

"Father of lights, in whom there is no shadow . . . ."

STEP SINGING

Until winter comes and again in the spring, we meet every Tuesday evening on the Chapel steps, each class in its own position, to entertain each other, cheer each other, and sing together. Some of the songs are new, but the favorites are always the ones we can sing just as well when the fall darkness renders songbooks useless. Step Singing is always a bright spot in our week, yet we do feel sad on that last Tuesday when the "grand old seniors" march to Green Court and echo back to those on the steps, "WEL-LES-LEY!"

"We want Daisy Mae on our steps!"

DORMITORY LIFE IS ALSO A TRADITION

Perhaps the hours that we will remember best from our college careers are those spent in the dormitory. When our work becomes depressing or impossible, there is always someone else who is in exactly the same predicament. Bridge is in order, someone wants to go to the Well, or it's a good day to sun-bathe.

HOUSE MEETING

Presided over by the house president, house meetings are democratic assemblies of the students in each house in which we vote on or discuss important college, as well as house, legislation.

DORM ATHLETICS

Relaxation is synonymous with a game of bridge. There is no other sport as avidly followed or participated in at Wellesley. Justification? Mental exercise.

WAITING ON

Those who wait-on or take bells work! Let there be no misunderstanding. But it is probably some of the most pleasant work we will ever have. It is preparing us for the future: strong arms and pleasant voices, we realize—often bitterly, are undoubtedly a real asset.

But there is more than the casual get-togethers. Your house is your "home-away-from-home," in which you have pride, to which you invite guests, teachers and "friends", to dinner and dances. Your room is your laboratory in which you experimentally "interior decorate," to the distraction of your friends, where you can read your favorite magazine in peace, where you can be alone. And yet that feeling of being always with the others is a reassuring and comradely feeling which is hard to leave when college is really over; you know that you will never have just that again.

JUNIOR SHOW

As each new class comes to Wellesley, it is warned by its big sisters that in only two years it must write and produce a Junior Show as good, if possible, as the one it will see in November. In November, the heart of each new Freshman fails. Nothing could be that good, that entertaining. But by the time they have reached their Junior Year, they have caught, miraculously, the same spirit they so despaired of. Their confidence is high. Nothing is impossible with such talent, such a plot. The memory of the song, "that scene," the dancing, "that line," the excitement and the work will stay with us all, participant or spectator, long after college is past, and our little sisters' little sisters are producing the biggest, newest and best Junior Show, Wellesley has ever seen.

L'art d'or

Honors Chapel: "Phi Betes meet at the sophomore transept . . . "

"THE PLAY IS THE THING"

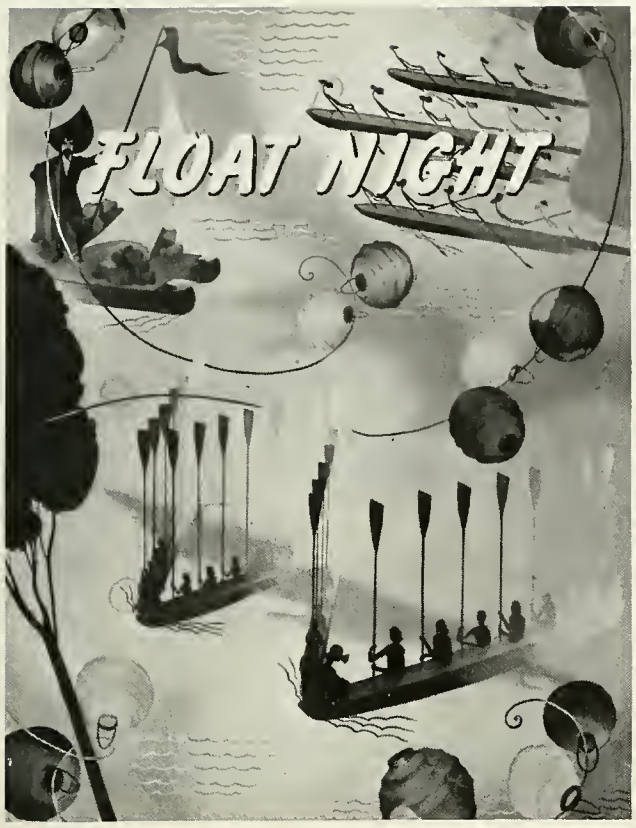
Every year, all save the Freshmen, see the Seniors produce a "play" in which the faculty members are cruelly "taken off." Despite threats of disgrace and humiliation, each year a brave few, in outlandish disguise, sneak in and learn all. Once in four years the faculty has revenge and produces something similar, perhaps worse, about us, their students. This year the joke is on us. See below for results.

HOOP ROLLING

They're off! Seniors in tied-up cap and gown race to see who'll marry first—or is the winner a crafty Harvard man? But notice 1948's secret weapon against the interloper.

BLOTTERS

Sophomores are under those blotters, serenading the seniors in picture and song. The picture? A diamond ring! It's more than legend that Wellesley girls make the best of wives.



Float Night opens with the crew competition between classes. On Lake Waban each varsity crew pulls for victory, and the winners are hailed in triumph. The pageant of floats, which come out of the darkness, tells a fairy story in brightly-colored figures.

Tree Day

At the height of each spring's beauty, one more tree is added to the campus. This tree belongs to the freshmen and is the cause of a day of celebration. The regal Tree Day Mistress and her beautiful court preside over the festivities of the colorful pageant until the sophomores race the freshmen to the class tree. Freshman hearts fail at the prospect of being outrun by the sophomores, their right to cheer for the first time thus being denied. The beauty and excitement of Tree Day exemplify the power of Wellesley tradition.

General Relief

When our general exams arrive, we are painfully reminded that our studies have been *ex*tensive as well as *in*tensive. But we do more than review our notes. We review four years—and while our notes may not always be perfect, we know those years are the best. So it's more than mere facts that arm us to meet THE GENERAL.

You really don't have to, you know

Budgets are having a pretty tough time these days so it is particularly important to have a Connecticut General Student's Reimbursement Policy to help pay doctors, nurses and hospital fees when accident or sickness comes along.

Most Wellesley undergraduates have this valuable protection. After graduation you can continue coverage with individual policies obtained through a Connecticut General representative in your community.

If you can't read Greek, look at the very small type below . . . it's our beginning and parting thought for the day . . . and a good one to remember.

Lignin is the cementing material which holds the fibers of trees together. From this by-product of pulp manufacture our research chemists have fabricated many useful materials.

Approximately one-half of the vanilla flavoring used in the United States is made from our lignin. Lignin products aid in uniform dyeing of dress goods, in making locomotive boilers operate satisfactorily, in drilling deep oil wells, in tanning shoe leather and in better grinding of cement.

This interesting material has many more potential uses. We would be pleased to tell you about them.

BINDING

"COORDINATION" . . . a word that can mean a lot to you, even more than it does to us. It embodies a principle upon which our success depends. It means the proper economy of money, materials, and time, but always bearing in mind the kind of a yearbook you wish to have produced and of which you will be proud. BJH learned to appreciate that principle a long time ago. It is for this reason that we have consistently advocated the coordination of all factors of yearbook production. We are indeed glad to have been selected to produce this year's book.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Planning plus hard work are the usual elements that produce a yearbook. But as in most chemical reactions there is the mysterious action of a catalyst required to achieve results. In publishing our book, we found our catalyst in many sources. We had the luck of working with Mr. Peter Gurwit of the Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company and Mr. George Heffernan of Baker, Jones, Hausauer, Inc., who give so much more than their duties require in the way of patience, understanding, and counsel. No less helpful were their secretarial aides-de-camp, Miss Carolyn Zadek (J. and O.) and Miss Virginia Coon (B.J.H.). Outstanding for her assistance with manuscript and technical problems was Mrs. G. McKenna (B.J.H.).

Miss Sophie Delar, our photographer, gave boundless energy and limitless time to our photographic problems—and always cheerfully. What would we ever have done without her Katie to help us primp before our pictures were taken—or Jack Hindley, who tramped from Alum to the golf course, week days and week ends, to catch our classmates off guard?

On those black days when packages piled up, and we couldn't grow three hands apiece, Miss Barbara Maynard, of Information Bureau fame, and Mrs. Dorothy Garvey in the post office, lent an indispensable hand. Like magic, our packages were received or mailed on schedule.

Bachrach supplied pictures of Mrs. Horton and Dean Lindsay, while Don Robinson of the Boston Record American provided the picture of the dolls for C.A. Bazaar. For the photography in many of our personalized ads, we are indebted to Mr. Irving Green of the Sargent Studio, Boston. Without cuts lent us by Miss Mary Lyons of the alumnae magazine and prints gathered from the Publicity Office files for us by Miss Rene MacLaurin, there would have been numerous holes in our book.

Bubert's Photo Supplies helped us make our deadlines by giving us twenty-four hour service on much of our candid work. We borrowed Bev Ayres from News to take pictures and to do some of our enlarging. During vacations Cullen's Photographic Supplies, in Montclair, New Jersey, dissipated our photography worries.

This list is only a beginning, for LEGENDA has enough friends to fill a whole book. I'd like to end the list of patron saints with the names of four non-staff members—Marion Ord, Ruth Roberts, Peggy Wash, and D. O. Williams—who so kindly assisted with the final bits of manuscript. They are representative of the many seniors who gave more than financial support to our yearbook.

My very fine staff joins me in expressing our appreciation for the miraculous intervention of our large honorary staff.
